2. Eligibility.

2.1. Active duty Air Force, Air Force Reserve (AFRES), Air National Guard (ANG) members, and civilian employees paid through appropriated funds are eligible for this award. Those nominated should be continuing their federal civilian or military service with the government and should not have an approved separation or retirement date. Contract personnel are not eligible for this award.

3. Award Period of Service.

3.1. The award program is on a calendar year basis, 1 January-31 December.

4. Nomination Due Date, Process and Authorities.

Each organization may nominate one individual (military or civilian).

5. Selection Panel and Process.

5.1. SAF/IA manages this award program.

5.2. The Deputy Under Secretary, International Affairs or Assistant Deputy Under Secretary, International Affairs, will chair the selection panel. Panel membership will be comprised of five voting members, including the chair. USAF military members and federal civilian employees assigned to units at any level of command who have working experience with International Affairs programs and operations may serve as panel members. Panel members shall be senior in rank to the nominees competing for the award. SAF/IAPA shall provide the panel administrator and determine panel membership based on the above criteria. The panel will convene no later than 15 March of each calendar year.

5.3. Panel members will work independently as they evaluate nomination packages. Panel members will focus on the contributions above and beyond the nominee's primary duties and responsibilities, and annotate the nature and scope of achievements that demonstrate excellence in executing security cooperation programs and significantly improving interoperability with partner air forces. During the selection panel meeting, members will justify their top three nominees and then vote by secret ballot for their top nominee. The panel administrator will tally the votes to determine the award recipient.

5.4. The panel chair will certify the panel members' scores and the outcome of the competition. He or she will also be the decision-maker for ties and splits. The panel administrator will assist the panel chair with adjudicating the need for any rescoring actions in the event of major split decisions between panel members. Rescoring may take place only if it will change the outcome of the competition and the decision for panel members to rescore nominees will rest with the panel chair.
